INSTRUCTIONS FOR GRADE 4 PARENTS/TUTORS

WORK SUBMISSION: Send in assignments as requested on Lesson Plans (where it indicates “send graded paper to school” or “send ungraded paper to school”). Papers sent to school should be on 8½ x 11 notebook paper and jagged or torn edges should be trimmed. All assignments must be handwritten in cursive. Make sure all writing is legible—very neat so that the tutor can easily determine what was written. Illegible words will be marked as misspellings. If the majority of the paper cannot be read, it may be returned to the family to be redone.

N.B.: If the student is still learning cursive, he or she may complete assignments in print until such time as they are caught up with their cursive writing skills.

Make sure there is a proper heading on all assignments -- name, grade, week, subject, the assignment in question, and the date. The following is an example of how the assignments should be headed:

Theresa Martin
Grade 4
Week 3, English, P. 5
September 9, 2012

For the bi-weekly submissions, staple the work for each week behind the corresponding week’s lesson plan. Always put earliest week on top. If you have any questions you need answered before the quarter progress reports are completed, please attach your note to the FRONT of your child's lesson plans. Please do not write it in the comment section on the Lesson Plans. For an even faster response, please contact OLV directly at 208-755-9921 or info@olvs.org.

GRADES - Please remember to provide grades for every assignment. Please follow the Sample Lesson Plan sheet as a guideline. Where possible, give a percentage grade (the E-Z Grader sold by OLV is very helpful to determine the percentage grade). Please follow the grading chart assigned by the school:

(97-100)	Excellent
(93-96)	Superior
(89-92)	Very Good
(85-88)	Good
(81-84)	Above Average
(77-80)	Upper Average
(73-76)	Average
(70-72)	Below Average
(66-69)	Barely Passing
(0-65)	Fail

DAILY ASSIGNMENTS: The lengthier daily assignments may be shortened, but some of each type of problem or sentence in the assignment must be completed. We suggest that most of the work in the textbooks and workbooks be completed. However, we leave to the tutor’s discretion whether all or part of assignments not sent to OLVS are completed. Some of the assignments may be done orally to save time on busy school days, or work may be given as homework. However, all assignments which are requested to be sent to the school must be completed and written so the tutor can review them properly. If a student regularly receives grades below 75%, he or she probably does not understand the concepts and will benefit from completing all the assignments. In math, the student should be encouraged to complete all word problems, as these types of problems are very important to master.

PREPARATION FOR TESTS/FINALS: Parent/Tutor should take some time, previous to the day of a test, to prepare the student. A child with excellent retention may be able to simply read the titles, subtitles, and italicized or bold-printed words from the textbook. However, most children will need to read the material again and/or review the important points orally. It might also be helpful to review previous work. All problems or questions on tests must be answered. However, the test may be divided into two parts and administered on consecutive days.

RELIGION: This year, students will use Living for God, the fourth book in the Living My Religion Series. Living for God Syllabus and Teacher's Manual 4 contains the answers to the exercises and tests assigned on the lesson plans. You may also want to read Preparation, Presentation and other suggestion for activities in the teachers' manual. These may help to teach the topics in the book. Be sure to put a daily grade for assignments on the lesson plan. (Example: excellent understanding = 100%; knows almost perfectly = 95%; very good memorization = 92%, etc.)

This year we are also introducing the book, Sunday Morning Storyland, Sermons for the Children's Mass by Rev. Wilfred J. Diamond. This book contains a story to complement each Sunday of the liturgical year. There is a reminder in the Comment Section of the Lesson Plans to read the story that corresponds with the current Sunday's liturgy.

MATH: The student will be using the Hake Saxon Math 54 (3rd Edition). Read instructions in the book and in the Tests and Worksheet Booklet. This is an incremental program which has been systematically planned to teach new skills and consistently reinforce them. Due to the nature of this math program, it is very important to "work every problem in every practice set and in every problem set." A grade should be recorded for each problem set and each test. These should be entered as a percentage grade or the number wrong over the number possible, e.g. (-3/25).

The student should complete work on a separate sheet of paper. We have enclosed some sample graph paper which may be copied as needed. In this way the entire Saxon 54 set may be used by other children in the family.

The Speed Tests or Facts Practice Tests in the Tests and Worksheet Booklet may be done by writing the answers on a folded sheet of paper or they may be done orally, according to your student's preference and need. Be sure to help the student memorize any facts with which he has trouble. By making the number facts automatic, the student will become proficient. To enable the students to develop this proficiency, it is our policy not to allow the use of calculators at the elementary level. If your student experiences difficulty, please try to pinpoint the problem area. Each lesson refers to previous lessons for the various processes for which the student may need review.

Use only PENCIL in Math so that mistakes can be easily erased and rewritten. DO NOT write over a mistake; this makes the answer unclear.
